Josh has very limited common sense. Josh's father easily manipulates him. I was able to win Josh over by explaining facts he did not know and helping him to start projects. ~~Josh~~ Teaching him skills he did not have. Hanging sheet rock, Laying irrigation pipe. (Susan dug the trenches) I always tried to acknowledge him as the head of the house and encourage him to do better.

Susan was in labor with her first child. We drove her to the hospital — Josh backed up his computer and downloaded a form to work on, on his laptop. (met us later) We stayed with Susan and Josh sat at the end of the room working on his laptop while Susan was in labor. Minutes before Susan gave birth while she was crying out in pain — I went over to Josh and whispered loudly "Susan needs you now!" he put down the Laptop went over (confused) she grabbed his hand. With in 5 minutes the baby was born. Susan told me how grateful she was that Josh was there when she needed him. ~~Josh~~ (I never told her the truth)

When Susan was in sincere pain Josh looked panicked apparently only then appreciating the situation.

I don't think he will fold unless he sees the firing Squad Load and aim. Ask anyone "Josh is Josh"
