Hi there,

So all the reports have been run on the SIM cards. I talked to Brandon Shopay over at the RCFL and he said would get in touch with our new forensics persons Dana Miller to see if he can assist. I think Dana Miller has a background in computer forensics.

I called and left Dana a message asking him to call me.

Just wanted to let you know where we stand right now.

Thanks,
May-Lin

Hello,

I met with Dana from Forensics this afternoon. There is no hidden data written in the binary code or any of that raw data information.

If there are any text messages, address books, phone numbers, etc. it is on the report that was provided under the text messages field.

After meeting with Dana I found out that the SIM card data is not very useful and very limited at best.

There were a couple old text messages on two of the reports but other than that the text messages are stored on the handset's memory and is deleted if the user deletes the message.

Some providers keep messages for 60 days so if the data you are looking for is recent then a subpoena could be sent to the provider. If it is longer than 60 days old then most likely that message is gone.

Let me know if there are other phones or SIM cards you need ran.

Thanks,
May-Lin
