Susan and face book and such believed her to be she reached out to associate with her I met Susan th about Susan and h and that she want all hang out some I'd gone through a I didn't know	h. To be honest I though exaggerating when shoot I think I was someoned husband, neighbors, on the husband Josh. The sed to meet and talk to think of the was in a very bad related to meet of the holes of the was in a very bad related to the holes of the was in a very bad related the holes of the holes of the was in a very bad related the holes of the hol	were fried which was told me se "safe" for most fried also said me. If Susan a help Susa the stories	nds and talked is a bit of a "dr stories. Now I or her to talk to ends. We had ever med that she'd to said Susan, bout me leavire nout.	often. Mostly online, rama queen" and believe I was someone being that I didn't et, cold Susan all about me I, and herself needed to mg my husband and what Susan and Josh. It s" possible to leave him			. She hoped Susan would with her children and with walked up to me a told her right then	the first words Susan some to meet her when and said "So you've head that if she ever wanted appy to tell her. She as	rd all abou d to talk ir	ut my life right n detail	. Susan ??" and I replied "yes". I much less than yo conversation ceas	ou, than you will have need.	o problem	. I told her ` ". Just then Jo and went on and of acted as though hetter than myself	for a minute I decided I on about things that ma e was an expert photog f. He did all of these thi ccomfortable around Jo	nde no sen grapher an ngs and ra	se as far as ph d had an attitu	ide as though he were

. I could hear Josh being difficult and controlling of the photo shoot and joked with after wards about it. I knew then that Josh was very different and I wasn't interested in associating with him again.
Susan found me on Facebook and we chatted over instant message from time to time. She asked me how I'd done it She told me that Josh was controlling of the money, the amount of groceries she was allowed to purchase and everything that had to do with the children. She said once that he "didn't allow her to touch the camera or have photo's online". I wasn't sure how much to believe and how much of what she said was exaggeration. Some of the stories she told me sounded to extreme to be truthful. According to her stories, Josh controlled everything that she did. She said he never physically hit her. She said he would manipulate their boys into thinking she was evil. She was not allowed to spend any money but Josh would run out and buy big purchases at will. She said he insisted on buying a generator when at the time they were struggling with finances elsewhere. Josh was always yelling at her and verbally abusive. He swore at her and called her a "bitch" often. But again she insisted it wasn't physical. I'm not sure if I remember this right or not but I believe she said he pushed her once but on a regular basis it was never physical. She wanted her marriage to work more than anything. She was always talking about what she could do to improve it or going to counseling with him. They started counseling together and about two weeks before she disappeared I asked her how things were going. She said things between them were great. That everything was "better than ever" and she thought they'd made some great improvements. I didn't go into details with her at that time. I just told her I was happy to hear that things were getting better and that counseling was going well. We talked about Christmas coming up soon and how fast time was going by. Susan always wanted a girl and or twins and didn't know why she'd been so very sick. She complained a lot of being sick in November. Nausea and such. She said she thought her remidies (she was into natural remidies) were working and that she was feeling better. She was telling me that she had remodeled her kitchen and wanted me to come see it. I asked her to put a photo online and again she said Josh wouldn't allow that. I don't remember things word for word and have a horrible memory due to a head injury when I was 16 years old. But I remember her complaining about Josh buying a generator, selling her computer, selling her car, making her ride her bike to work, not being reliable when he did take her or drop her off, and sabotaging any efforts she made to bring the children into her LDS faith. She was always very blunt with me when complaining about Josh. I asked note if she talked like this to everyone and said "yes". Actually said that she'd told Susan that if she really "did" want to work on her marriage with Josh then she shouldn't go around talking badly about him all the time. Every time I talked to Susan on messenger, email or in person it was all about Josh. Her stories were extreme and I chalked it up to exaggerating truth. Litold her that she could do it easily. Especially since she was the one making the money. I told her that she needed to start standing up for herself. I told her that I thought Josh had a mental disorder and she should leave him. I told her that I would help her if she did. But then sometimes she would be so positive that things were getting better. Especially right before she went missing. She sounded very optimistic and happy about their relationship improving. I believed her that it was. Susan loved her children. She told me stories about them and she was very protective over them. She had a hard time leaving them and not being around them. She enjoyed being around them and enjoyed her time off with them. She wanted more children and twins if possible. I told her she was crazy lol! Her boys she always used to joke that she'd get her girl next. She was a very sweet person, very interested in her health and had lost something like 60lbs doing a Densie A? video. She would always tell me that she was logging off to go run on the treadmill. She was motivated to stay healthy and gardened and was interested in natural remidies. She drank saurakrout juice when she was not feeling good in October, and she but onion juice in her ear for an earache. It still makes me laugh thinking about some of her reamidies

I miss chatting with her. I miss her and I feel absolutely horrible that I didn't take her stories more serious. I feel like I should have known better and that she reached out to me for help. Mostly I just miss her.
