I didn't really know Josh but I knew Susan because I used to be her ward at church. The only time I ever saw Susan was at church.

The little I knew of Josh was that he didn't come to church and wasn't very involved there. Susan was in the ward choir and I was the pianist and she was very involved in the ward choir but I hardly ever talked to Susan at church unless we said hi in the hall or if she came up to compliment my outfit or ask about music for the ward choir. Outside of church I never talked to her. The last time I talked to Susan was probably a few weeks before she went missing.
